Bathe away the last traces of the outside world under breathtaking waterfalls, view wild orchids on jungle jaunts or explore deep inside mystical caves. You may wish to ride an elephant through the bush to Mon village or just bask in the sun, before diving off your varandah for a cooling swim in the River Kwai.

As day fades into night and the mood of the river becomes more reflective, the magical sounds of Mon music can be heard echoing through the night and the night wanders on like the river, whispers and smiles pass across candlelit wooden tables and a thousand tales come alive.

The River Kwai Jungle Rafts, not just a place to getaway to... but a legend to be experienced,
deep in the heart of Thailand.

Location: Situated on the River Kwai, Kanchanaburi. Only 190 km. from Bangkok by road, and another 40 mins by boat
(only accessible by boat).

The River Kwai Jungle Rafts
have its beginning in 1976.
Now it is comprised of:

- 83 twin rooms equipped with shower and proper toilet facilities
- Restaurant rafts and a bar on board
- Theatre rafts for Mon folk dance
- Elephant ride, Mountain Biking
- Swimming, Trekking, Rafting and Canoeing
- Caves and Waterfalls visits

An unforgettable night in the jungle

Theme for a dream

*When harsh city life takes on the strain
Unwind at the Jungle Rafts natural domain
Share the sheer joy of nature's grace
At your door step so well placed...
Just like a dream came true.*

Sam Fang

The River Kwai Jungle Rafts have a little piece of paradise to offer you in the heart of the jungle, and visit to this floatel moored along the historical river is a unique opportunity to step out of your everyday world into the harmony of nature. Getting to this magical place is half the fun. An exhilarating forty-minute boat trip from Pakseng through spectacular gorges, beckoning beaches and clusters of brilliantly coloured birds, delight the senses as one ventures deeper into the wild heart of the jungle.

To assure that your stay is pleasurable, the Jungle Rafts provide a menu which is as good for the body as the atmosphere is for the mind and spirit. You can select Thai or Western cuisine for the evening and begin the day with a hearty American Breakfast.
